

FLOWERS | BLOOMING BOUQUETS

1. If you're adventurous enough to elope, think about carrying a garden variety bouquet like this one from Flou(-e)r. Wrapped in gray muslin with a wired raffia overlay, this bouquet includes purple clematis, blue thistle, feather fern, explosion frost grass, gray succulents, David Austin English garden roses in peach, and lavender scabiosa.

2. For outdoor "I do's" at a regal country estate, consider something like this loose and lush arrangement by Weedweavers of Wakefield. Arrangement includes anemone, ranunculus, dahlia, garden roses, Russian sage, Pink-Diamond hydrangea, fall-blooming clematis, honeysuckle, cup and saucer vine and porcelain berry.

AMBER JANE BARRIGMAN

We love a winter wedding and this bouquet by Flou(-e)r is as cool as they come. Elements include cotton, white ranunculus, mini pinecones, dusty miller, mini white cabbage, white anemones, white tulips and iced birch branches. The wrap is made with a satin underlay and crystal overlay for some added holiday sparkle.
